BROADER POWER IS SOUGHT FOR NEW LABOR LAW

Application To Specific Industries Is Chief
Problem

ADMINISTRATOR FACES QUERIES

Pecan-Shelling Industry
Presents Initial
Difficulty

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The wage-hour administration may ask congress for broader authority in applying the new labor standards
law to specific industries.
This prediction came today from high-ranking officials, who were swamped with inquiries from employers as to whether the statute regulates minimum wages and maximum hours for their particular businesses.
Now that the wage-hour program
actually has gone into effect, Administrator Elmer F. Andrews and his staff are giving most of their attention to these appeals for assistance.

Up To Courts
Their opinions will be only advisory, however, for the courts must determine finally whether an individual industry is in interstate commerce and therefore subject to the federal law.

There also is the possibility that business men will request clarifying amendments to the act and possible extension of the classes of exempted workers. Some employers, on the other hand, argue that the courts should pass on the law
as it stands before making any changes in its provisions.
After the first day of the act's operation, Andrews reported last night that most branches of industry were complying fully with the new standards, even though many companies were not certain whether it applied to all their employees.

Unofficial estimates indicated that more than 80,000 persons were shut out of work by shutdowns of scattered plants—pecan-shelling plants, lumber mills, and tobacco stemming factories.

First Major Problem
The pecan-shelling industry presented the first major problem for the wage-hour administration. J.
Seligman of San Antonio, Texas,
president of the American Pecan Shellers of America, told Andrews that all plants in the south had been closed because of the law and that 50,000 workers were involved.
Some representatives of the industry contended their employees should be exempted from the law because they were in the area of agricultural production—a region which congress placed outside the act.
Others expressed the opinion the minimum wage provisions should apply to their work.
Seligman estimated that workers in the industry received from 10 to 15 cents an hour, at least 10 cents
below the statutory minimum.
In New York, the Postal Telegraph company announced it was starting to lay off 1,000 messengers who receive less than the 25-cent-
an-hour minimum.

MRS. ROBT. TAFT OF CINCINNATI TO SPEAK HERE

MAJ. NORMAN IMRIE SPEAKS TONIGHT

Street Parade, Flares
And All, Will Pre-
cede Meeting

Mrs. Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, wife of the Republican candidate for United States senator, will address a public rally at the Memorial building at 8 p. m. Thursday, sponsored by the Salem Republican women's organization.

This announcement came today
from Mrs. W. F. Eckstein, chairman of the women, as local G. O.
P. leaders completed plans for a meeting in the Memorial building
tonight.
A spectacular parade, with the red flares and all that goes to make up a political demonstration reminiscent of days long ago, will precede tonight's meeting.

Rally Follows Parade
Following the parade, a rally will be held at the Memorial building, at which Major Norman Imrie of Columbus, a World war veteran and orator of national renown, will be the principal speaker.

Party leaders invite all citizens,
regardless of political affiliation,
to attend the rally, which will start at 7:30. A free lunch will be served.

Approximately 75 automobiles are expected to be in the parade, which will form near the Memorial building at 7. G. O. P. groups from cities throughout the county will be represented.

The parade will move west on E.
State st., to Elsworth ave., thence south on S. Elsworth to Franklin st., east on Franklin to S. Broadway, north on Broadway to State
st., and east on State to the Memorial building.

Three musical aggregations, the Lisbon, Sebring and East Palestine High school bands, will play during the procession through the downtown section.

"Get Out and Vote", Women Are Told

LISBON, Oct. 25.—An appeal to women to get out and vote at the Nov. 8 election, in particular, and also to take an interest in their government at all times, was stressed by two speakers at the county Republican women's dinner meeting in the Wick hotel Monday night.

Between 150 and 200 men and women heard Mrs. Laura Dow Gebby of Bellefontaine and William L. Manahan of Defiance, state Republican orators.

Mrs. Gebby explained why the women should vote, calling attention particularly to unfilled Democratic promises and unemployment,
which has not been lessened.
"Let's put America back to work,"
she said, "by putting the Republicans in office." She attacked the Democrats for over-burdening the

the latter's bride of three months.
Police said Thomas accompanied the younger Powell when an automobile driven by James Reed, was commandeered at the point of

COURT STUDIES ROGERS APPEAL

Engineer Arguments Also Aired Before Appeals Jurists

LISBON, Oct. 25.—The court of appeals today had under advisement two outstanding county cases
following presentation of arguments this morning and Monday afternoon on behalf of Burl Rogers, convicted slayer, and the Colum-biana county board of elections,
appealing against a writ of hab-itus issued by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Jones in an action brought by Lloyd Kirk, county engineer.

Rogers' appeal was argued by Attorney Frank Hoover of East Liverpool who, with Attorney Samuel Chertoff, also of East Liverpool, represented Rogers in his first degree murder trial last March. Rogers was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary and is now an inmate of the institution.

Prosecutor Karl Stouffer, by virtue of his office counsel for the board of elections, filed the appeal against the writ of mandamus allowed Kirk here and presented the board's appeal to the court this morning. The action was brought to prevent the engineer's contest
from going on the ballot next month.

The appeal was filed prior to action by the state supreme court on a petition filed by Robert Wheatley
of Saineville and Charles Snyder, Salem, respectively Democratic and Republican nominees for the engineer's post. The state court ruled the names of the candidates should be included on the ballots.

Rogers was convicted of participation in the slaying of Clarence Dickey, East Liverpool milkman.
Hoover, in his oral argument, maintained that second degree and manslaughter verdicts should have been included in the court's jury charge. His plea was based on the assertion that the defendant conspired in a misdemeanor and not a felony in that the defendant with Dudley Adams and Clinton Daniels, planned to "sneak" a case of milk
instead of holding up Dickey as the state claimed.

Meeting Is Held By Young People

The Young People's club of St.
Paul's Catholic church met Monday evening for a short business session,
followed by a social hour.
Plans were discussed for a skating party to be held soon and announcement was made that responses for the play to be presented Jan. 16-17 will get under way in the near future.

School Excavation Here Is Completed

With the excavating completed at the site of the High school annex, workers yesterday and today got forms ready for the pouring of concrete for the foundation of the new fuel room.
As soon as this is finished, the Atlas Construction Co., will start the general foundation work. The Youngstown firm broke ground on the project Oct. 17. The six-room addition is scheduled to be completed by April 1.

ANNUAL POLICE DANCE NOV. 23

Department Members Will Buy
New Uniforms From Proceeds of Event

The second annual police benefit ball, sponsored by members of the Salem police department, will be held Wednesday night, Nov. 23, at the Eagles club, it was announced today.

Proceeds of the dance will be used to buy new uniforms for the police. The patrolmen today started their ticket sale. Nine hundred tickets were sold last year when the event was held at the Elks home.

Music is to be provided by Art
White and his orchestra, dancing
to commence at 9:30.

Police Will Keep Peace As Bulky And Taft Debate

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 25.—There will be no bonfire for Bulky in Youngstown tonight.
Neither will there be any hisses
at Taft.

That was the edict today of Police Chief Carl L. Olson, who ordered approximately 80 policemen to be on the job at Stambaugh auditorium when Democratic Senator Robert J. Bulky of Cleveland
meets his Republican opponent, Robert A. Taft, in one of their
"Lincoln-Douglas debate" series.

Olson had read accounts of unfavorable receptions given the two men in other meetings.

"There'll be no rowdiness here,"
he declared.

Police, however, may have their hands full, despite precautions.
Three thousand free tickets for the debate—enough to fill the auditorium—are being passed out at Republican and Democratic party headquarters. The idea of the tickets is to keep out the rowdy elements.

After ticket holders are seated,
however, the doors will be opened to the general public and another 3,000 may get standing room. Indications are that there will be a capacity crowd.

Attend Conference Of Missionary Unit

Trinity English Lutheran church

ary society of the Synod of Ohio of Missionary society was served at 6 o'clock, followed by a program.

The speaker was Miss Elvira Strunk, missionary who has been in China.

Salem women in attendance at the meeting were Mrs. J. A. Fehr,
Mrs. G. D. Keister, Mrs. Evalina
Becker, Mrs. A. H. Schropp and Mrs. J. E. Ressler. Women from Lestoula and Greenwood Lutheran churches also attended.

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 25.—Formal opening of the newly-constructed plant of the Northeast Ohio Poultry association on the Salem road, near Columbiana, will be held Wednesday, climaxed by a dinner at 8:30, served by members of the Toward class of the Presbyterian church.

More than 200 reservations have already been made for stockholders of the association and their families. The plant will be inspected in the afternoon. Following the dinner, the annual election of officers will be held and reports made. Vocal and instrumental musical numbers
will be included on the program,
as will a talk by H. C. Ramsower, director of agricultural extension service of Ohio State university.

C. M. Ferguson of Ohio State university will conduct both the afternoon and evening programs.
The usual Wednesday poultry auction sale will be held in the morning. The new brick building, 40x32 feet in size, was built by I. Mowen.

The association was organized in 1934, sponsored by commercial poultrymen of Columbiana, Mahoning,
Trumbull and Portage counties.
Since that time, men of Carroll,
Stark, Geauga and Ashtabula counties are using the facilities for egg marketing. Until now, the business of the association has been conducted in the Columbiana Milling Co., building on S. Main st., but the rapid growth of the industry
caused a need for larger quarters.

In the past four years, 68,821
cases of 2,654,680 dozen eggs have been sold. Since poultry auctions were started two years ago, 5,557
coops of approximately 111,540 head of poultry have been handled, the volume of the business amounting to three-quarters of a million dollars. Mr. Wagoner of Kent university managed the plant during the first year, and was succeeded by the present manager, C. F.
Moser, formerly of Minerva.

Prosecutor Fights
Arson Case Motion

LISBON, Oct. 25.—A motion to dismiss the defendants' request for a bill of particulars was filed Monday by Prosecutor Karl Stouffer in common pleas court in a preliminary skirmish between the state and counsel for Helen and Joe Thomas, indicted for arson by the September grand jury.

The prosecutor in his motion
stated that the request was unreasonable in that it constituted a demand for evidence in the state's possession rather than seeking clarification of the issues involved.
Judge Jones is expected to rule on the motion this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will be tried Nov. 7 on charges growing out of an explosion wrecking the White Swan Inn, near Middleton, last March. The building was completely destroyed.

Will Discuss Relief

LISBON, Oct. 25.—John Orr, county relief auditor, will address
members of the Columbiana County Clerks and Trustees' association at a meeting in the courthouse Friday evening.

Orr will discuss the 1939 relief budget which must be fixed not later than Nov. 1.

INFANTRY SQUAD FIRST TO ENTER

Hankow Is Sixth Great City to Bow to Invading Forces

(By Associated Press)
TOKYO, Oct. 25.—Japan's capital tonight received the announcement of the fall of Hankow with an utter lack of excitement.

Japanese leaders indicated that a huge lantern parade would be organized tomorrow to celebrate the victory, but there was no evidence the celebration
would be spontaneous.
The Japanese masses are tired of the war. They have been told that the hostilities
and the national effort to back
the campaigns in China must continue.

News paper extras telling of the fall of Hankow did not sell well.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 25.—The Jap- anese army and navy commands tonight announced that their forces had entered Hankow, China's pro- visional capital, abandoned by its defenders.

Japanese officers said units of the capture of the great city on the middle Yangtze river, major goal of the Japanese conquest since Nanking fell nearly 11 months ago.

The first detachment to enter apparently was an infantry column
which previously had captured Whangwei, 20 miles to the north,
and then driven rapidly down the Peiping-Hankow railway.

Chinese Leaders Flee
Generalissimo Chiang-Kai-Shek,
military and civil leader of the Chinese nation, was reported to have left Hankow by plane during the night, accompanied by his foremost aide, his American-educated wife, Naval officers said they believed Japanese warships had reached the grand inland port, 585 miles up the Yangtze although exact positions
of the vessels was not disclosed.
Since Nanking's fall the navy has cooperated with the army in blasting a pathway up the river.

The last stages of the Japanese advance were made with such rapidity—overland from the northeast, along both banks of the Yangtze and up the river itself—that large units of Chinese were cut off.

The rapidly driving Japanese columns were said to have left several divisions in pockets to be cleaned up later, as motorized vanguards
with tanks sped toward the doomed
Chinese capital.

Sixth City to Fall
Hankow (which, with its sister Wuhan cities of Wuchang and Hanyang, had a pre-war population of about 1,700,000) was the sixth great Chinese city to fall to the invaders.

Peiping and Tientsin were taken in the first weeks of the war that began July 7, 1937; Shanghai fell Nov. 9, and Nanking—Hankow's predecessor as Chinese capital—Dec. 13. Canton, metropolis of the south, fell last Friday.

Only lesser cities, mostly far in the interior, remain in Chinese hands.

Whether Japan would be content
to rest on her present conquests, thus opening a period of undeclared peace, remained a subject for conjecture tonight.

mer, will be present to aid in the plans for the new program.

TAKE A GOOD LOOK

The spying business, according to the evidence of the German spooks who got caught at it, doesn't pay big money, but it's steady. There's always some sucker who never knew before that U. S. army airplanes have landing wheels and are flown by men with two legs and two arms.

The impression that spying is a mighty dumb racket these days deepens with each new piece of information about it. The lengths to which men and women will go in order to smell out relatively unimportant information about relatively unimportant things is a sign of the general unhealthiness of the times.

There's no way the United States can keep Germans from making monkeys of themselves in bungling their international relations, as it learned before and during the World War, but it can and is giving their spies something to report.

Spying is like peeking into the other fellow's hand in a poker game to see if he's bluffing too. If the peeper happens to see a royal flush, he's easily convinced it's time to get out of harm's way.

SHORT-WEEK CUT TO RECOVERY

If one could believe all or any of the oratory which helped to blow the wage-hour law through congress, the millennium would date from 12:10 a. m. Monday, Oct. 24.

What this legislation is supposed to do has been lost sight of in the general confusion of trying to put into national effect an idea so vaguely defined that years of uncertainty are ahead of it, provided the courts don't rule it unconstitutional in the meantime.

The "fair labor standards act"—its proper name—is expected to increase employment, to augment consumer purchasing power, and thereby to hasten economic recovery. It is the child of the late national industrial recovery act, which was expected to do the same thing in its time, but didn't, at least not so anyone could notice it.

The parent legislation was limited to two years, but subsequently was extended. The fair labor standards act, however, is permanent. More than that, it provides for its own development. Next year at this time the work week becomes 42 hours, instead of 44 hours, and two years from now it becomes 40 hours—five eight-hour days.

Past that point, on the assumption that when all Americans producing goods in interstate commerce work 40 hours there won't be any need for further economic recovery, the lawmakers were unwilling to go. But if the 44-hour week starts to bring recovery and the 40-hour week brings it, the 30-hour week is just around the corner, where prosperity lingers. Auto workers already are demanding a maximum of 32 hours of labor a week as their special contribution to recovery.

JAPAN SUPREME IN ASIA

Correspondents are speaking now of the "new phase" of the war between China and Japan. It is not easy to determine what the phrase means. The correspondents, themselves, would have trouble explaining it.

What they probably are trying to convey is the thought that Japan will continue to encounter trouble to China. The war is not over, in the sense that there will be a cessation of hostilities.

But in the sense that it still is a conflict between well matched powers, with victory hanging in the balance between them, the war apparently reached a climax in the capture of Canton.

The Chinese army now has been cut off from the seacoast and a steady source of supplies. In the future Chinese resistance will be from a defensive position in the interior of the country. The possibility that Japan can be driven off the mainland no longer exists.

Probably the best hint of what has happened is found in rumors of mediation under the auspices of Great Britain and Germany, the former the ally of China, as far as supplies are concerned, the latter the ally of Japan in the anti-communist bloc.

In the United States, there has been a consistent assumption that China could not be conquered by Japan; that the Chinese would absorb the invaders and eventually assert their numerical superiority. That assumption is still sound, but with this reservation:

That Japan now is close to having accomplished control of that part of China which is most important for its purposes, the coastal region. It has done to the regime of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek what Germany has done to the republic of Czechoslovakia—weakened its defenses to a point where the Chinese, while still hostile to the Japanese, have no choice but to acknowledge that they are helpless in the orbit of Japan, the supreme Asiatic power.

ANY AMERICAN—TIME: THE PRESENT

There's no limit to American desire for the newest cars. Psychologists would call it an example of the infinity of the stimulus of ownership, or some $10 phrase.

Manufacturers, with the skilled aid of advertising agencies, are beginning to do everything in their power right now to tickle public fancy. It's almost more than an ordinary mortal can stand.

In his newspaper, in his magazine, and on the street in front of his house the auto industry's 1939 models catch his eye. It would not be over-statement to say that his possessive side is in a dither of excitement.

The amazing thing is that this has happened to him times almost without number. He's getting as tingly a thrill out of anticipating ownership of a 1939 functionally designed precision model as he used to get out of those strange vehicles which looked as though a horse might back up any minute and trot off with them.

And when you speak gently to him of these things after nudging him into awareness of his surroundings, he will sigh, "Ain't it a beauty! I don't see how it could be improved, but I didn't see how last year's could be improved either."

QUESTIONS CONTRIBUTED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) asked the senate campaign expenditures committee today to decide whether recipients of federal old age pensions could contribute legally to senatorial campaigns.

Sheppard said an investigation had been made of a complaint that old age pensioners in California had given funds to candidates favoring increased pensions. The complaint, Sheppard said, named Sheridan Downey, Democratic senatorial nominee, as one of these candidates.

Downey has advocated a "330-every-Thursdays" state pension system.

The senate committee has contended it is illegal for any person receiving compensation from the federal treasury to contribute to the campaign fund of a congressional candidate.

Besides hearing its California investigators at today's session, the committee called for reports on campaigns in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Georgia, Ohio and other states.

Senator Davis (R-Pa.) has charged that relief funds were used for the political benefit of his Democratic opponent, Gov. George H. Earle.

Aubrey Williams, acting Works Progress Administrator, told the senate committee yesterday there was "not a scintilla of truth" in Davis' charges. He sent the committee the results of an investigation which he said had been made of allegations by Davis appearing in newspapers.

Conversion Of Sugars And Starches Discussed

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE FIRST law of thermo-dynamics—that's what the physicists call it. It was discovered by a brewer's son who churned water.

This is perhaps an unnecessarily dramatic way of describing James Prescott Joule, but it is quite accurate. The first law of thermo-dynamics states that heat energy is convertible into mechanical energy. He proved it by rigging up a paddle wheel in a box of water. He took the temperature of the water before and after he had churned it, and he found that the temperature had increased; that, in fact, the mechanical energy had been transformed into heat.

The mechanical work the body does conforms closely to this rule. In the muscle, heat produced by the burning of sugar, by its union with oxygen, is converted into mechanical energy—the movement of the muscle.

This is the main function of carbohydrate foods—the sugars and starches that are derived from vegetables, fruits, cereals and bread. Before being absorbed into the blood they are all changed in the digestive system into sugars, as sugars are stored in the liver (some storage in the muscles themselves), and are ready to be converted into energy. About half of all our food intake should be carbohydrate.

Learned from Diabetes

We have learned a great deal about the mechanism of this process and we have learned it from the study of a disease—diabetes. The muscle may be compared to a gasoline engine. The gasoline is represented by sugar. Sugar and oxygen are brought together just as gasoline vapor and air are brought together in the carburetor. The mixture requires a spark in each case. In the muscle the spark is caused by a substance produced in the pancreas, insulin.

We said yesterday that there was a disorder, or disease, known for every food element. The disease of carbohydrate nutrition is diabetes. In diabetes there is a decrease of the amount of insulin.

They would have you believe that if a plant is busy it is a simple matter to pay time-and-a-half for over-time. The answer however will be to deprive the holder of a job a chance to pay off some old debts by a little extra time, since the answer will be the employment of extra help with which the present workers will have to share their time once the business gets back to normal.

The present regime rode into power partly on the failure of prohibition to reform people by enactment of laws, yet they turn right around and make the same mistake in regard to reforming human nature and curtailing individual rights by laws thought up by the "hot-dog" boys.

An Observer.

Only the conscientious use of the ballot in the forthcoming election, supporting those who will refuse to be rubber-stamps, affords any hope for relief.

Like many recent laws the wages and hours bill was forced through without the legislators knowing just what it meant and with a wealth of detail left to the judgment of such bureaucrats as may be selected to administer it.

The large gobs of publicity being handed out in Washington to a news-hungry press, again accentuate the desire of the powers-that-be to stir up class hatred and to paint the employers of the country as scheming knaves who are grinding the last nickel out of the workers.

'Tis true that there may be one here or there but why not deal directly with them rather than to dish out a lot of generalities that mislead the public and incite hatred.

OUR READERS

WAGES-HOURS LAW

Editor, The News:

To the interested observer, the question arises whether the American workman is going to allow to pass unnoticed for the present this latest attempt to regiment him through the application of wages and hours law.

This encroachment of the state upon the preserves of the labor union, which after all is the medium through which such reforms or improvements should take place, leads surely to the same end as in Germany and Italy.

There the unions have been liquidated entirely, the right to strike under any conditions has been lost.

CHAPTER XVI

"You'll hang yourself with stories like that, Millie's voice was glacial. 'If you'll let me finish you'll quit trying to think I'm a murderer. I went back to the Sunset after I left you here early this morning. I have a key to the back door so I can get in late when there's a poker game. They lock the front when the bridge players leave.' Ben went on. 'You knew Fowler was dead?' 'I knew something screwy was going on. Fowler didn't leave the club after you rowed with him at the table.' 'We heard his car.' 'We didn't. That's what tipped me off. Fowler was a roadster a block long. That was a small car we heard leave the Sunset. I'd heard rumors around town about a slick card with the cards who was due for a fall. Several of the boys thought it was Fowler—but it wasn't. Fowler was a straight player. When I found him stabbed this morning I thought he'd snuffed out by mistake. I was mad when I left and phoned the police.' 'And now?' 'Now I know who killed him. I have the guy on his hands and knees crawling on the side porch by the bowling room. I saw the same guy knock off Rice on the back tonight. After we left the Four Leaf Clover I called him—' 'The dicks have a word for it—skunk and accessory after the fact. You'll like playing daisy chain in a Florida road camp.' 'Call it what you want. He's going to pay plenty. There's important cases to warrant two snuff-outs in twenty-four hours.' Ben lowered his head. 'Why this mug's a sap. I asked him to the Sunset just before I came here. He's got something hidden there—and I know where it is. He took part of it home with him tonight. I'm through with this lousy racket—broke one day and winner the next. Let somebody else take the risk on this deal. We'll cut in on the profit.' 'Once I thought I loved you. Ben! Millie said dreamily. He had queer feeling that the words were dragged from her by some force beyond her control. 'You were a gambler, and knew your stuff. That was before you started playing another man's game, and betting into one-card draws. If you dropped this foolishness I might care to care for you again.' 'Meaning you're not in with me now.' 'Eckhardt carefully measured each word. 'Meaning more than that. Ben. There's not going to have anything to do with this—whether you like it or not. I stuck with Zorrio until I heard he was a killer—but I was partly dead myself by then. I'm not going to let you start on the same bad as I went. I'll keep my mouth shut as long as you do the same. If you contact this double killer—I'll contact the police. You can get for me if you want to—and we'll meet at the morgue when Caprilli's torpedoes are through burning your feet. Now get out! You can come back when you see things my way!'"

MARTIN FACES LABOR BATTLE

Union Circles Speculate On Future of U. A. W. Chieftain

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Oct. 25—Labor circles speculated today on what the future may hold for Homer Martin, the militant president of the United Automobile Workers.

Linked closely with this was another question: What was behind Martin's call on the top executives of the Ford Motor company a fortnight ago?

Factionalism still exists in the big Committee for Industrial Organization union, despite CIO intervention to squelch it, some sources said, and there was a feeling that November may be a crucial month for the former clergyman who became a labor leader.

May Bring Crisis

These observers pointed to the meeting of the UAW international executive board opening in Washington Nov. 1 and the first convention of the CIO, in Pittsburgh Nov. 15, suggesting that one of these may bring a crisis for Martin.

Martin's control of the executive board faded when it accepted the CIO's terms for reinstating high UAW officials Martin had had removed.

Closed followers of the situation said they expect Martin to rely on the rank and file of the union for support if the board should act against him.

Martin will head a delegation to the CIO convention representing a union which claims 450,000 members, making it one of the strongest groups at that assembly.

Rumors that the UAW board might possibly start impeachment proceedings against Martin have been offset by others that the CIO is opposed to his removal.

Executives Like Martin

The reasons advanced for the CIO's reported attitude are that the CIO feared Martin's departure would split the UAW and his personal standing with the management of the concerns which have UAW contracts. Their executives are said to like and respect Martin, a factor strengthening his position with the union.

The Ford company is the only major automobile producer which has no UAW contract. Martin's call on Henry and Edsel Ford and their personnel director, Harry H. Bennett, started a number of rumors.

One of these, the Detroit News said, was that "Ford might be considering a sudden change of policy which might lead him to use Martin against John L. Lewis, CIO head, and reach some sort of an understanding with the UAW."

LUDLOW, Vt. — Leo Plute and George Zienowicz, both 11, must have set some sort of a record when they picked 318 four, five, six and seven-leaf clovers within six hours.

"I'm afraid that wouldn't get the right one, Vince." He reached for a cigarette from the table beside the bed. The Captain found one and lit it for him. "Doris says you got the letter from my coat pocket."

"Warning Caprilli to stay away from the Sunset?"

Stan nodded. "I wish I knew who wrote it."

"I know who wrote it." LeRoy seemed pleased. "Patterson checked it this morning against Munroe's portable. It came from that machine, Stan."

"It's almost a public machine—where it's located. Caprilli thought Munroe wrote it, too."

"So you saw that louse?"

"That's why I went to the Four Leaf Clover. I got the letter from Caprilli."

"I'll remember that," LeRoy said sternly. "In case he comes back again."

"He left last night?"

"Early this morning. Listen, Stan," the Captain leaned close to the bed, "you must have some idea why you were knocked off that boat last night. What did you find out?"

"I wonder." Stan thoughtfully touched his bandaged head. "For a starter, Vince—Edward Fowler was in love with Eve Farraday. The check of Tolliver's was torn up because Eve asked Fowler to destroy it."

"Now there's love!" LeRoy had taken a cigar from his pocket and was examining intently a minute flaw on one end. "What a guy! He tears up ten thousand dollar checks for debutantes—and has a dame like Millie LaFrance on the side—"

The Law Does the Lambeth Walk

It looks like the Lambeth walk, but the English bobbie is just keeping in order a jam of London youngsters who were so eager to cheer for the Dowager Queen Mary that the cop had to do a lot of pushing to keep the kids out of the way of harm. The scene was shot as Queen Mary presided at ceremonies in Lambeth Town Hall.

Work for Year Is Launched At Music Study Club Meeting

A program opening the year's study of the book, "Discovering Music," by McKinney and Anderson, was presented at the first business meeting of the Salem Music Study club in the library assembly room Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Edgar F. Miller of Columbiana, president of the club, was in charge of the business meeting, when plans were completed for inviting senior clubs of the middle-east district to meet here next year at the same time as the junior clubs of the district hold their convention in Salem.

The treasurer's report was given by Miss Hilda Franke. One active member was transferred to the associate members list. One name was presented for membership in the club.

Mrs. Jane Stoner, an associate member of the club, was present at the meeting, at which Mrs. P. H. Beaver of Leetonia was hostess.

Roll call response was current musical events.

Mrs. E. E. Dyball presented the afternoon's work from the study book, which was a discussion of "Impressionism," as illustrated in the works of Debussy, Ravel and Falla. Mrs. Dyball was presented by Mrs. L. D. Cessna, program chairman.

Analyze Work of Composers
The study included an analysis of the works of the three composers, particularly Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun," with explanation as to the character, technique, construction and theme of the composition.

Marionettes Come To Modern World From Ancient Europe

Europe for generations has had its marionette shows, with Tschener Marionettes in Vienna and Podrecca's "Piccoli" in Italy, ranking among the most outstanding. Each of those two groups has its own permanent theater in which each generation carries on the work and traditions established by former generations.

American marionettes have achieved distinction here and abroad since American producers have combined quaintness of the old world art with modern sophistication. Marionettes are no longer considered childish entertainment, any more than the Walt Disney cartoons. It requires an adult mind to appreciate the art in both forms of entertainment.

The Rufus Rose Marionettes, which have been shown at the Chicago World's fair and outstanding entertainment spots throughout the country, will be seen in two performances at the High school auditorium Thursday, Nov. 3. The show is brought here by the Progressive Mothers club.

Schools will be dismissed at 2:30 p. m. to permit school children to attend a special matinee presentation of the child's fairy tale, "Pinocchio," in the High school at 3. Junior and Senior High school students matinee will open at 4:30. "Treasure Island," Stevenson's famous story, and a variety show with modern characters represented, will be on the adult program in the evening.

The Progressive Mothers club is sponsoring the project to obtain funds to carry on its welfare and charitable activities and to aid underprivileged children of the city.

Mrs. H. W. Cameron is president of the club and Mrs. Lowell Brown is general chairman of committees in charge of the marionette appearance.

Both adult and children's tickets are inter-changeable for the three performances and may be used at any of the shows. Parents may thus accompany youngsters in the afternoon, or children may attend the evening performance with their parents.

Margaret Lindsay and John Payne, romantic stars of "Garden of the Moon", showing at the State Wednesday only.

Following tonight's concluding performance of "You Can't Take It With You" featuring Lionel Barrymore, Jean Arthur, James Stewart, and Edward Arnold, the State will present a new kind of musical comedy.

"Garden of the Moon," marking the first important screen role for John Payne, will be seen at the State Wednesday only.

"You Can't Take It With You" and "Garden of the Moon" are both Movie Quiz contest films.

Five New Songs

Five new songs are introduced in "The Garden of the Moon" which deals with a hot and tricky feud between a hotel manager, played by Pat O'Brien, and an impetuous young band leader, played by John Payne.

Payne is the featured vocalist who stepped into the role originally intended for Dick Powell. Acting honors are shared by Payne, O'Brien and Margaret Lindsay, who has the role of a girl press agent. The story is based on a recent magazine serial of the same name. Probably destined for biggest success is a lilting melody sung by Payne which is entitled "Confidentially." His other solo number, "Love is Where You Find It" and "Garden of the Moon."

The two other songs are of the novelty classification, and are so cleverly presented that for many people they will undoubtedly be the most enjoyable features of the production. They are entitled "The Girl Friend of the Whirling Dervish" and "The Lady on the Two-cent Stamp."

Payne also sings these numbers, but in each case his efforts are backed up by vocal and instrumental specialties by Joe Venuti, Jerry Colonna, Johnnie Davis and Ray Mayer, to say nothing of a large vocal chorus and the first-rate swing band that was assembled for this production.

Also in the cast are such reliable comedians as Melville Cooper, Isabel Jeans, Curt Bois, Mabel Todd and Penny Singleton, and then, as a matter of special interest, the film displays Jimmie Fidler, famous radio chatter, playing himself.

The Grand theater will offer a

20 PREP SCHOOLS STILL UNBEATEN AND UNTIED

ELEVEN TEAMS HAVE WON SIX GAMES IN ROW

Seven Ohio High School Grid Teams Boast Five Wins

By FRITZ HOWELL.
COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—A score of high schools, less than one-twentieth of the Ohio scholastic brigade which launched the 1938 football season six weeks ago, rolled along today with unbeaten and untied scores.

Eleven had won six straight, seven had five in a row, while two Cincinnati schools rounded out their select class with four wins. On their heels with five wins and a tie were four other schools, while six had been beaten but once in a half-dozen attempts.

Two top-notchers flew out of the upper flight over the weekend, Troy bowling over Xenia, 6 to 0, and Hamilton's Big Blue bowling to Cincinnati Hughes, 18 to 6, to end its winning streak at 12.

Several other victory stretches were improved, however. Cleveland Rhodes ran its string to 23, Upper Arlington to 14, Cleveland Cathedral Latin to 13, Forest to 11, and Portsmouth to 10. Liberty Center, which had romped through 15 in a row, and unscathed in the last seven, dropped from the picture as Bryan rang up its sixth straight, 37 to 6, at Liberty's expense.

Forest, little Hardin county school, led the "clean record" teams in scoring with 186 points in six games, and also boasted one of the top unscored goal lines among the top-fighters. Forest beat Larue 50 to 0 Friday.

Of the score of teams at the peak, only a few were rated among the state championship timber, several of the smaller schools not playing schedules which would warrant title claims. Among the highly-rated squads were such teams as Greenfield McClain, Massillon, Columbus North, Bellaire, Portsmouth and Canton McKinley, all having played tough opponents.

Canton McKinley and Findlay, both unbeaten and untied, enjoyed vacations over the weekend, but Greenfield beat Wilmington for the first time in 15 years, 52 to 31; Portsmouth scored its first touchdown in history on Middleton soil to nose out the Middies 6 to 0; Columbus North beat Columbus Aquinas by the same score; Massillon knocked over Steubenville 31 to 0, marking the first time "Stubs" had lost three in a row since Coach Charlie (Punke) Cartledge took over the reins in 1919, and Bellaire beat Painesville 14 to 0.

Manfield Madison, a Class
B-school, beaten once in six starts, showed a clean pair of heels in the scoring department with 248 points, 44 more than Alliance, which held second place with 204, after beating Cleveland John Hay 20 to 13 last week for its fifth in six starts. Hills, Aviator quarterback, remained at the peak of the individual scoring list with 114 points, five ahead of Gene Harmon, 150-pound Manfield Madison's backfield star. Dick Huston of Toledo Libbey was third with 102, romping out the "century" list. Warren, which had previously lost to Massillon and Farrell, Pa., in five games, wrecked the hitherto perfect record of the latter, 13 to 0, over the weekend, and expects 10,000 fans for the tilt with Shion, Pa., Friday night.

About 12,000 are expected at Canton for the battle between McKinley and Alliance, in which Hume and Canton's huge Negro star, Marion Motley, are slated to put on one-man shows for their squads. Massillon, three-time state champion, and involved with Alliance and McKinley for the Stark county crown, meets New Castle, Pa., this week.

Manfield crossed Shelby's goal line twice, the first points against that team, but lost 26 to 13 as Harold Bliss scored three touchdowns for Shelby to run his total points to 72. Carlos Frazier of Marion also came up with a three-touchdown spurge, and tossed a pass for a fourth, as Ashland was smothered 30 to 0 for Marion's first win over the team since 1928.

Weather Halts 5th Boat Race

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 25.—Fishermen of the crew of the challenging American schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud expressed dissatisfaction today over postponement until tomorrow of the deciding race with the Canadian champion Blue-nose for the international fishermen's trophy.

Thebaud bested Blue-nose in a blinding rainstorm yesterday to make the schooners' standing two all in a three-out-of-five title contest. The fifth contest was postponed after storm warnings had been hoisted for today.

Capt. Cecil Moulton of Thebaud wired Capt. Charles M. Lyons, U. S. steamship inspector at Boston and chairman of the race committee, asking that he reconsider the postponement and asserting his crew was "anxious to finish and get back to fishing."

MONTREAL—H. Paquette, chain store manager, and his family feasted on a meal that flew into his store. Paquette was standing behind the counter of his store when he heard something crash into the window. Investigating, he found that it was a partridge which tried to fly through the window and broke its neck.

BOWLING RESULTS

A new leader made an appearance in the Quaker City league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night as the Economy V-8's moved into first position, replacing Floding & Reynard Druggs.

The V-8's won two out of three games from the Trades Class to take over the top position while the Druggs were losing two out of three games with the Hotel Lape.

Calladine's Service won two out of three with Harris' Garage to pull into a tie for second with the Druggs. In other matches, the Burt Capel Realtors won three games from Coy's Buicks, the Altohouse Motors took three from the Sharpe & Wise Contractors, and the Salem Motors won two out of three from the Golden Eagle.

E. L. Grate had the best score of the night in pacing the Altohouse team to three wins over Sharpe & Wise. Using a new ball and benefiting from instructions in "how to bowl" given him by Ralph Gregg, his alley manager, Grate combined games of 233, 199 and 184 for a splendid 619 series.

Spindlin Foreman retained the lead in the American league at the Masonic temple alleys, posting two victories in three games with the Electric Furnace.

Fernengel's Colts took over second place by handing the Ohio Edison three defeats. Other matches saw the Reich Sports win two out of three from the Masons and Demings take three from the Carroll Ceglers on a forfeit.

BASEBALL MEN GO SOUTHWARD TO HOME TOWN

Colony In Sarasota, Fla., Now Numbers More Than Thirty

SARASOTA, Fla., Oct. 25.—Their uniforms put away in moth balls and their spikes hung on the wall, more than 30 professional baseball players have arrived here for a winter of golf and fishing before the call to spring training is sounded next March.

The colony was started about eight years ago when the Indianapolis Indians trained in Sarasota. Bill Burwell and Lloyd Brown, then with the Indians, were the first to settle here for the winter.

They spread the word around and soon many of the "big names" in baseball were coming to Sarasota for the winter. Brown bought a home, and though he saw service with Washington, Cleveland and in 1938 with the St. Paul Saints, Sarasota has been "home" to him and Mrs. Brown.

John Cooney, veteran of nearly 20 years in the big show and now an outfielder with the Boston Bees, also owns his home here and spends each winter with Mrs. Cooney and their son.

Henline Owns Hotel
Walter J. (Butch) Henline, catcher with Pittsburgh, Brooklyn and the Chicago Cubs, bought a hotel and since has acted as unofficial host to his fellow players.

Paul Waner, Pittsburgh outfielder, is another veteran of the colony and even persuaded his younger brother, Lloyd, also a Pirate outfielder, to forsake his native Oklahoma and settle here. Both the Waners are married and each has a young son.

Bill Swift, Pittsburgh pitcher, also chose Sarasota and married a Sarasota girl. Helnie Manush, former American league batting champion who started the 1938 season with Brooklyn, went to Toronto and then wound up with Pittsburgh, also lives here, with Mrs. Manush and their children.

Roy Spencer, former major league catcher, who finished the season with the Baltimore Orioles, owns two homes here and recently bought an apartment house, which he expects to repaint and redecorate this winter.

Derringer Is Builder
Paul Derringer, Cincinnati Reds hurler, is interested in beach property. He built five cottages last year and is erecting three more this winter.

Wesley Ferrell, who went from Washington to the Yankees late in the season, came down again this winter to recuperate from an arm operation. His brother, Rick, is expected to join him later. Rick is a Washington catcher and has spent several seasons here.

Babe Gangel, manager of the St. Paul Saints, joined Mrs. Gangel and their four children for the season. Johnny Moore, former National league who was with Los Angeles last summer, returned to his home here, accompanied by Mrs. Moore and their three children.

There are others, including Mr. and Mrs. Billy Sullivan of the St. Louis Browns; Bill Sweeney, manager of the Portland Beavers, and Mrs. Sweeney; Garland Braxton, Little Rock pitcher and former major league, Mrs. Braxton and their daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Galehouse of the Cleveland Indians; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Fox of the Boston Red Sox; and Mr. and Mrs. Lary of the Cleveland Indians.

Dean May Be Missed
Mr. and Mrs. Dizzy Dean formerly lived in nearby Bradenton and spent most of their time on the golf course or visiting other members of the colony. Dizzy has announced he is going to California this winter. He still owns his home in Bradenton.

Even the umpires are represented. Larry Goetz, National league umpire, spends the winter here with Mrs. Goetz. Bill Jurgens, Chicago Cubs shortstop, is the only baseball player who left Sarasota because he did not like the climate. Jurgens and his wife and daughter came down two years ago, bought a home, spent the season, then sold their home and since have lived in his home town, Brooklyn.

Quakers to Battle Lisbon In Sixth Grid Game Friday

County Seat Eleven Has Won Three of Six Games Played To Date Under New Coach

A Lisbon High school grid team which has broken even in six games to date, furnishes the opposition for Salem High school's Quakers in their sixth game of the season at Rely stadium Friday night.

It will be the Quakers' first home game since Oct. 7 when they met East Liverpool at the Pershing st. field. Since battling Liverpool at home, the Red and Black lads have tangled with Struthers and Wellsville on foreign fields.

The Quakers strengthened their record last Friday night with a 14 to 7 victory over Wellsville. It was their third win in five games thus far in the 1938 campaign.

The Quakers stuck to straight power plays against Wellsville, piling up more than 300 yards gain from rushing, and are expected to rely on the same type of offensive against the county seat aggregation.

Although passing has not been an important factor in Lisbon's offensive to date, the county seat team may show up with an aerial attack in view of the fact that the Quakers have been notably weak on pass defense in their past five games.

Under the direction of a new coach, Howard Ziemke, former Mount Union college athlete, who embarked on his coaching career this year, Lisbon has won three games and lost three so far this season.

The county seat eleven has posted victories over Minerva, East Palestine and Sebring and has lost to East Liverpool, Louisville and Boardman.

Salem and Lisbon have met two common foes, East Liverpool and Sebring. The Quakers lost to East Liverpool, 19 to 7, while Lisbon went down to defeat by a similar score. Against Sebring, Salem posted a 29 to 0 victory and Lisbon a 6 to 0 win.

With the exception of East Liverpool, no team has been able to score more than one touchdown against Lisbon, indicating that Coach Ziemke has built a strong defensive machine.

Louisville, current leader in the Tri-County league, squeezed out a 6 to 0 victory over Lisbon, while Boardman defeated the county seat eleven by an 8 to 0 score.

The Quakers, who played their first two games without being scored on, have had their goal line crossed eight times in the last three games. East Liverpool scored three times against the Red and Black lads, Struthers four times and Wellsville once.

Perry To Sponsor Fight Card Nov. 8

Premoter Jimmy Perry announced today that he will sponsor his second amateur boxing show of the indoor season at the Memorial building, Tuesday, Nov. 8. The show will be a feature of election night.

Eight bouts will be included on the card, which Perry is planning to make one of the best he has ever presented. The matches have not been made as yet.

DEPERO WINNER IN PRO BATTLE

Salem Fighter Is Given Decision Over Pittsburgh Lad

Making his debut in professional boxing ranks, Al Depero of Salem won a clear-cut decision over Jack Solomon of Pittsburgh in a four-round bout at Motor Square Garden in Pittsburgh last night.

Although outweighed six pounds, Depero, who is managed by George Julian of the Salem Athletic club, was never in trouble with his bigger opponent. He cleverly dodged the Pittsburgh fighter's punches and came back with flurries of rights and lefts which set Solomon back on his heels.

Solomon weighed in at 183½ pounds and Depero at 180. Their bout was a prelude to the battle between Teddy Yarosz of Monaca, Pa., former middleweight champion, and Oscar Rankin of Chicago. Yarosz was awarded the decision in the 10-round bout.

PITT REMAINS BEST IN LAND

Sports Writers Select Panthers As No. 1 College Team

By DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The Panthers of Pittsburgh are just as good in the ballot box as they are on the field.

Ninety of the 100 sportswriters who participated in the season's second Associated Press poll today chose Pittsburgh as the best football team in the land, nine others picked them for second place and one for third. Pitt got 989 points, only 11 from a perfect score, to top the first ten for the second straight week.

Minnesota, 308 points behind the Panthers, stayed ahead of California in the race for seventh. Texas Christian climbed from seventh to fourth and Santa Clara from sixth to fifth. Dartmouth lost caste and fell from fourth to sixth.

Notre Dame dropped from fifth to seventh after its single touchdown win over Carnegie Tech and Tennessee retained eighth position. Fordham and Oklahoma displaced Duke and Syracuse as the ninth and tenth teams.

All are undefeated and untied save Fordham, tied by Purdue. Second ten nominees were, with their votes:

Duke 114, Northwestern 55, Michigan 36, Holy Cross 15, Villanova 14, Carnegie Tech 13, Carroll 12, Alabama 11, Southern California 10, Ohio State 7.

The ratings reflect the headlines. Pitt, hailed as a terrific force overland, unveiled a nifty passing attack in giving Southern Methodist a handsome drubbing. Minnesota did not play but heads into an old and tough foe, Northwestern, this week.

Wrestling Results
SALISBURY, Md.—Jim Londres, 200, Greece, threw Dr. Howard Wilson, 225, Trenton, N. J., 28 minutes.

Berkeley, Cal.—Edwin L. Lederer, liquor store proprietor, positive that a man who entered his store intended to rob him, went to the door and out onto the street to look for help, but as no one was in sight, he returned to the store and submitted to the robbing.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Dave Strong is one football player who reversed the old suggestion: "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em." He played for Illinois in 1936 and gave Michigan's Wolverines a licking when he kicked a field goal for the Illini's winning margin. Then he transferred to Michigan, his father's old school.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—Penn State will do its best to stop Wilmeth Sidat-Singh, Syracuse passer, next Saturday for Penn State's only way the Nittany Lions figure they can get over a losing streak. The Nittany Lions gave their first great aerial display against Penn State last week, pitching two passes to "Babe" Ruth to tie the score, then intercepting one by "Windy" Wear and running for the touchdown.

BATON ROUGE, La.—It's going to be a real invasion when the Louisiana State Tigers start for Knoxville this week for the first time in four years to play Tennessee. In all about 3,000 supporters of the team will make the trip in six special trains. The entire cast of 2,444, the 290 members of the band and various other officials groups will be taken on the trip by the university.

PANTHERS PLAN OFFENSIVE FOR SATURDAY GAME

Pitt Will Show Fordham Much Better Offense Than Before

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Those amazing Pitt Panthers are going to show Fordham a much hotter offense than the one they used in the Polo Grounds the past three seasons, but this does not mean that the Pitts are certain to win the east's major contest this Saturday.

For along with the improvement in the Pitt offense has come a corresponding sag in the defensive ability of the Pitts, which is worrying Dr. Jock Sutherland no little, and taking a wrinkle or two from the brow of Jimmy Crowley.

Three of Pitt's foes have been able to score on Pitt, this year, and none of them boast the scoring power of Fordham's Rams. The touchdowns can be explained, but it is more difficult to account for the yardage piled up by Pitt opponents in passing and running the ball.

Five opponents have averaged 70 yards a game rushing and 92 passing. The average for the whole season last fall was 40 by rushing and 52 by passing. According to the cold figures, then, Pitt is about 40 percent less efficient against running and passing plays than in 1937.

Yet to date Pitt has not had to meet a team with the climax runners boasted by Fordham in Pete Holovak and Len Eshmont. Such a pair could well spoil the afternoon's pleasure for a lot of Pitt rooters.

But to add cheer to the Pitt folks who are beginning to feel a little shaky as the first visit of the Fordham Rams to Pittsburgh draws near, the Panthers themselves can show some figures likely to harass any opposing coach.

The shift of the Pitt attack from the ground to the air in recent games has tossed the opposition defensive plans in a jumble.

Here is Marshall Goldberg, runner deluxe, with a record of six passes completed out of ten thrown, with two touchdowns included. Here is Johnny Chickerno, who first started to throw the ball last week, with three out of three, or Emil Naric, on the second outfit with two out of five for a total gain of 81 yards and a touchdown.

In the past three games the Pitt record is 14 out of 37 attempts for a total gain of 226 yards, and five touchdowns scored. Not to mention one marker on an intercepted pass. Only one interception by a foe in five games.

All of which points to offensive fireworks this weekend.

JOCK WORRIES OVER FORDHAM

Fears Rams Are Likely To Give Panthers Stiff Test

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Dr. Jock Sutherland, Pitt coach and a noted "weeper," claims Fordham is likely to give the Panthers their hardest game of the season, because of the New York team's climax runners.

"Wisconsin could have beaten us easily as not if they had had one good back who could handle himself after he passed the line of scrimmage," Jock moaned. "The Badgers were breaking through us consistently, but they were big fellows we could catch. We'll be up against a different proposition this week."

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—Here's why they call the Southwest conference the "passing" league—in figures. So far this season, the seven conference teams have gained a total of 2,973 yards by passing and 2,718 by rushing. Four of the seven have gained more ground through the air than overland. They have thrown 594 passes and completed 248.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Dave Strong is one football player who reversed the old suggestion: "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em." He played for Illinois in 1936 and gave Michigan's Wolverines a licking when he kicked a field goal for the Illini's winning margin. Then he transferred to Michigan, his father's old school.

Can't Take Our Picture!

Mrs. Jackson Barnett and daughter fight photographer

When Mrs. Jackson Barnett, widow of the "world's richest Indian", was served with a notice that she would have to vacate her palatial Wilshire, Cal., home by U. S. marshals, photographers attempted to take pictures. One photographer didn't get away with it, however, for Mrs. Barnett, left, and her daughter, Mrs. Maxine Sturgis, turned on him and a battle resulted.

Eight States May Provide Forecasts On Coming Vote

"Sample" States Expected To Provide Casual, Off-Hand Appraisal of November Trends

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. — The man who tries to understand the November election returns may find his answers in the way eight states vote.

If he hunts for any accurate analysis, he will have to dig much deeper. But a casual, off-hand appraisal may be gained from the returns of these sample states, despite the personalities and issues involved in the other 40.

These eastern states are on the list: New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. One mixed industrial and farm state should be added—Ohio, Iowa might represent the farm states of the middle west. Wisconsin and Minnesota each have a third party jousting with Republicans and Democrats for continuance in power.

California should be included not only as representative of the Pacific coast but as a study in what that whole area of mountain and coast states is going to do about old age pensions.

New York, with the county's biggest wad of electoral votes, has drawn President Roosevelt and his top tactician, Postmaster General Farley, actively into the campaign.

Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for governor against Mr. Roosevelt's old friend, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, is young and active and no follower of campaign precedent.

Two seats in the United States senate also are involved in New York. One of them is that of Mr. Roosevelt's old comrade, Sen. Robert Wagner, the man who has put his name on several important New Deal laws. The other is that of the late Sen. Royal S. Copeland.

In Pennsylvania Campaign
Pennsylvania, too, has lured many of the first rank Democrats into its campaign. The Democrats are reaching out for the last high elective office a Pennsylvania Republican holds—the senate seat of James J. Davis, onetime secretary of labor.

In Massachusetts, James M. Curley, a former governor, is trying for that office again. Leverett Saltonstall, a socially prominent former speaker of the Massachusetts house, is his Republican opponent.

The Republicans are running Robert A. Taft, a son of the one-time president, against Sen. Robert Bulkley in Ohio, and are trying to win back house seats and the governorship in that state.

Iowa is the home state of Secretary Wallace and the farm program which he administers has been drawn into the campaign there.

He has spoken time and again. A Democratic senate seat, the governorship and nine house seats are at stake.

In Wisconsin, the progressive party of the LaFollette is battling against Democratic and Republican opponents. The governorship, a senate seat and ten house seats are involved.

Minnesota supplies an even more complicated picture with Democrats and Republicans joining forces in some cases to try to wrest power from the dominant farm-labor party.

The fifth grade geography class at the South Side building, taught by Miss Kathryn Lodge, visited the Leetonia Tool company plant Monday afternoon and saw the manufacture of Miners' tools.

C. J. Halverstadt, lay delegate from St. Paul's Lutheran church to eastern conference of the Synod of Ohio at Steubenville last week, gave a report at the morning service Sunday.

Struthers Slaying Remains a Mystery

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 25.—Police Chief Harry Davis of suburban Struthers, after releasing one suspect, today admitted that hope was fading for solution of the murder last Tuesday night of Henry Fitch, 31, prominent Struthers business man.

The suspect, a 37-year-old Mexican, was released Monday afternoon when Davis concluded that "he just didn't fit into the picture."

A checkup with police in Akron and the east showed the suspect had a minor police record "but apparently no connection with Fitch." The man admitted being near the scene of the crime but denied knowing or seeing Fitch before he was found dead at the wheel of his automobile in front of the Struthers police station.

American people with taxes and running up the national debt to heretofore unknown proportions—"a heritage for our children."

She also urged the placement of old age pensions on a non-partisan basis to get rid of waste.

Manahan, in his talk, recalled that during the World War he fought to make the world safe for democracy. Today, he pointed out, there is less democracy than there was in 1918. "It's about time the citizens should decide on the fundamentals of government. We have just as good government as we deserve because too many of us stand idly by and let other people run things their way."

"Stop standing around and ask what the government can give you; instead, ask what you can do for your government." He quoted Senator Vandenberg in saying "Let's not call it going Republican this year; let's call it going American."

Mrs. Robert Hall, president of the Ligon organization, presided at the meeting. Mrs. L. M. Kyes of East Palestine, head of the county Republican women's organization, introduced the leaders of other groups. County candidates were presented by Mrs. Hall.

Other speakers were Mrs. Wilma Sinclair LeVan of Steubenville, central committeewoman of the 18th congressional district; Judge J. C. Nichols of the court of appeals, speaking in behalf of John W. Bricker, gubernatorial nominee; Mrs. Elmer T. Phillips of Youngstown, speaking for her husband, who is candidate for judge of court of appeals: Roy Merryman of Steubenville, state senatorial candidate, and John Stephenson of East Liverpool, nominee for state representative, in behalf of county candidates.
